AMERICA WINS WORLD'S TENNIS CUP BACK AGAIN AFTER TEN YEARS

McLoughlin's Brilliant Work
Gives Him Easy Victory Over Dixon.

SEVEN NATIONS BEATEN

To-Day's Finale Reward of Six Weeks of Hard-Fought Contests.

WIMBLEDON, July 28.—America recaptured the Davis International Lawn Tennis Cup from England here to-day when Maurice E. McLoughlin defeated Charles Dixon, in three straight sets, in the deciding match that brought the world famous cup to the United States after a lapse of ten years.

America's victory to-day comes after seven countries were eliminated in the preliminary to determine the challenge for Great Britain.

McLoughlin's win made the required three matches necessary for victory, and the Williams-Parkes contest, with the cup already won, was in the nature of an exhibition. Parkes continued his fine work and defeated the nineteen-year-old American after the match was forced to five sets.

BOTH PLAYERS ERRATIC IN THE OPENING SET OF MATCH.

McLoughlin won the first set by 5 games to 4 after a deal of erratic lawn tennis, both men being guilty. The Californian made a number of double faults, two of them in one game, while Dixon also offended in this respect. McLoughlin was not as accurate as usual. He drove many balls out and netted others, but in overhead work he was as clearly superior to his opponent that the result was never in doubt except in one game. McLoughlin then stood 30-40 on his own service and it was thought he would lose the first set. His magnificent service, however, pulled him out of a hole.

McLoughlin, serving first, as usual took the lead. Dixon made it even on his service. Then the Californian won a love service, taking straight Aces with his "express train" service.

In the second set McLoughlin delighted his supporters with some brilliant cross-court shots and a half volley. The result was won in a foregone conclusion. The American drove down the side lines with remarkable precision and persistence and carried off the set by 6 games to 1.

In the third set McLoughlin began by a "force attack" on the first service. The Californian's driving work became accurate and his overhead work was as perfect as usual and formed a spectacular feature of the match. When the dust of battle had cleared Dixon found himself four games in arrears, not one of which had gone to more than 4-15, but the stout-hearted veteran never gave in and, taking advantage of McLoughlin's erratic drives, took his own service. The Californian then served a deuce game, in which Dixon had vintage three times. McLoughlin, however, would not be denied. Two lightning services and a hand smash gave him the game and a lead of five to one. Dixon again took his own service, but the crowd knew the end had come. When McLoughlin came to the base line for his final service he justified their verdict, given already, by taking the deciding set with a 10-15.

Maurice E. McLoughlin, 34, Norris Williams, Raymond D. Little and Harold Hackett, forming the winning team, opened the world games in New York last month against Australia and gave promise of its strength with an easy triumph over the Antipodeans. Three matches to one, Jones and Doherty of the Australian team were the only pair that succeeded in beating McLoughlin and Hackett in the doubles, supposed to be the weakest point of the United States quartet.

After winning from Australia, the four American players sailed for Europe and won from Germany in the next round on the courts at Wimbledon by three straight matches. The team next met Canada in the finals to decide which country would tackle England for the famous cup, and the American representatives continued their winning streak by an easy victory over the Can-

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—For the third game with the Cardinals this afternoon Manager McGraw picked Mathewson to scale pitching peak, while Chief Meyers went behind the bat.

Huggins put it up to Bob Harmon, the right hander and paired him with Wingo.

The Cardinals have won six of their thirteen games from the Champions, this being the best showing any National League team made against the pacemakers this season.

The Giants will close with the Cardinals to-morrow, when a double header will be put on. It was boiling hot to-day and only 1,500 fans turned out.

Special to The Evening World.
RELAND PARK, CINCINNATI, O., July 28.—The Reds and Brooklyn grappled once more. It was Sahara desert stuff and each manager picked a pitcher who, he thought, would win the game.

The pace in the tropics—Packard for Cincinnati, Yingling for Brooklyn. Joe Tinker played under a painful handicap. His wife is again seriously ill and he had arranged to leave right after the battle.

Daubert felt ill and retired. Miller taking first. X-ray shows a large piece of bone chipped off Dodge's right ankle from the injured sliding foot striking the base bag. Tinker essayed to cover third. Berghammer going to short.

FIRST INNING—Packard tossed out Moran. Groh made a stop and threw out Cutshaw. Meyer popped to Hobbs. No runs.

WHITMAN WILL NOT QUIT RACE FOR MAYORALTY

M'ANENY IN THE FIGHT.

District-Attorney Whitman set at rest rumors that he contemplates withdrawing from the race for the Mayoralty.

nomination by announcing this afternoon that he is in the contest to the finish. Mr. Whitman returned to his office to-day from a brief vacation in Nova Scotia.

He was told that politicians have been saying he had arranged to withdraw from the Mayoralty nomination campaign, resign from the District-Attorneyship and accept from Gov. Sulzer an appointment as Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed James W. Gerard, Ambassador to Germany.

"There is absolutely no truth in that report," said the District-Attorney. "You may quote me as saying that I am in the race for the Mayoralty, and I intend to stay in the race."

Horough President McAneny made his position quite clear to-day with respect to the much mooted question of his accepting a nomination for the Mayoralty from Tammany Hall. Mr. McAneny said: "I have been asked whether or not I would accept a nomination for Mayor from Tammany Hall. I must confess that it has seemed to me rather absurd that any one would suppose that I would take it if it were offered. But if there are any people who are uncertain of my intention I am quite willing to set their minds at rest. I have been contending for twenty years against pretty much everything that Tammany Hall has as an organization stands for, and I expect to keep at it. I certainly would not accept a Tammany nomination for the Mayoralty."

The Greenwich Villagers, who recently gave a dinner in Frank Moss's honor, will hold a rally in his behalf to-morrow night in Abington Square, and tell why Mr. Moss should be made the fusion nominee for District-Attorney. The Moss volunteers, 1,500 strong, headed by a band, will march from Jackson Square to Abington Square, and whoop it up for Moss. Among the speakers will be ex-Senator Frank D. Pavy, Charles R. Saul, ex-Chief of Police John McCullagh, E. C. Brennan, J. Leslie Gossin, Walter H. Carpenter, William C. Trewin, L. D. Mayes and Col. J. Frank Supple.

THUNDER STORM TIES UP TRAFFIC, STALLS THOUSANDS

Shoppers and Home-Going
Workers Caught in Jams on Subway and "L."

The thunder shower this afternoon, by a combination of electrical energy and a downpour of rain, crippled the surface car transportation system of the city, clogged the subway and generally discommoded the hundreds of thousands of commuters bound at the close of the afternoon. At 5 o'clock, when the storm was at its height, factories and offices discharging their employees into the streets aided in downtown traffic congestion that was not straightened out for an hour.

The downpour of rain was terrific in the retail section of Manhattan; streets openings were clogged and the sewer became rivers. Fifth avenue, from Thirty-fourth street to Madison Square, was ankle deep in water. Crowds of people were put out of business temporarily by water in the trolley conduits, and department stores and hotels were jammed with wet, perspiring persons who had rushed to the nearest shelter when the storm broke.

Subway stairways were jammed by persons who had gone in from the streets to escape the rain and by persons who had left the trains and were unwilling to go out in the wet. Passengers bound for trains augmented the throngs. Below Forty-second street it was impossible at 5 o'clock to get into the subway because of the crowds.

Lightning struck in many sections of the city. An industrial school at One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street and Bathgate avenue, in the Bronx, was struck, but no one was injured. After the storm the humidity in the air was dissipated and the atmosphere became cool and clear.

Child's Fall From Fire Escape.
Joseph Gine, aged two, of No. 28 Mott street, while at play on the fourth floor fire escape fell to the sidewalk. His skull was fractured. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

TAXICAB LAW FOUGHT THROUGH INJUNCTION BY HIGH RATE TRUST

Order Against Mayor, Bureau of Licenses and Police Commissioner Restrains Enforcement of New Reform Ordinance on Friday Next.

DESPERATE STEP IN WAR WAGED FOR THREE YEARS

Following the obstructive tactics that enabled them to stave off for three years The Evening World's movement to give New York a reasonable, decent and safe taxicab service, the taxicab interests and the big hotels have united in an eleven-hour attack upon the new taxicab ordinance, which goes into effect Aug. 1.

Justice Donnelly issued a temporary injunction in the Supreme Court this afternoon accompanying an order requiring Mayor Gaynor, the Chief of the Bureau of Licenses and the Commissioner of Police to show cause why they should not be restrained from enforcing the ordinance.

The order and injunction were issued on the application of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Company, the Hotel Imperial Company, the Universal Taximeter Cab Company and the Yellow Taxicab Company. Justice Donnelly made the order returnable on Aug. 1 at the request of the complainants.

Back of the Waldorf-Astoria and Hotel Imperial managements are the United Hotel, club and private hotel interests, which, under the old order of things, have been levying an enormous toll on the public in the way of charges to taxicab companies for the use of the public streets. The Independent Taxicab Owners' Association and other taxicab companies do not apply as allies of the Universal Taximeter Company and the Yellow Taxicab Company.

The object of the petitioners in asking that the return on the order and injunction be set for Aug. 1, the date on which the ordinance becomes effective, is plain. A matter of this sort, with the city officials all ready to answer at once, could have been argued to-morrow. By jumping three days and making the court proceeding parallel to the first day of the life of the ordinance the petitioners have opened the way to confusion and disorder.

There has been ample time since the ordinance was adopted for the taxicab and hotel interests to go into court and move to protect their alleged rights. The weakness of their cause is plainly exhibited by their delay in bringing an action until the eve of the expiration of the old system under which the people of New York and visitors to the city were shamelessly victimized.

FOES OF CHEAPNESS AND DECENTY WAIT TILL LAST MOMENT
The ordinance was adopted sixty days ago. The hotel and taxicab people had announced in advance that they would fight it if it was passed. The Supreme Court has been open for three months all that time, yet they wait until July 28 to bring out the justice of their claims—if their claims have any justice.

Before signing the ordinance Mayor Gaynor made an exhaustive study of the private hack stand question. He went away back into the history of ordinances governing public vehicles and found that private hack stands, such as the hotels, restaurants and clubs were maintaining, were virtually institutions based on piracy, for they existed without warrant of law. The right of the city to the control of public streets was clearly explained by the Mayor.

In the agitation against the ordinance the hotel owners are taking the leading part. They shudder when they think of sacrificing their juicy graft from the rent of the streets in front of their places of business. It is anticipated by the city officials that the injunction will be speedily dissolved when the matter comes before the court, and that the new ordinance will be enforced from Aug. 1, despite the attempts of the hotel owners and taxicab monopolists to muddle the situation.

Justice Donnelly asked that bonds be furnished securing the defendants from vexatious and the city against loss should the case be decided in their favor. The bonds were denied.
